

Connecticut Bar Journal

General Information

Date: June 21, 2019

Connecticut Bar Journal features scholarly articles on numerous legal topics and is published quarterly under the direction of a board of editors. The first issue of the Connecticut Bar Journal was published in January 1927. Then-CBA President Carmody envisioned a periodical that would “act as a constant reminder of the existence and purposes of the Association” and offer an opportunity for members to exchange their ideas and opinions in a sophisticated and scholarly manner. “The journal . . . will indicate to other bar associations that our Association is wide awake,” Carmody stated.

To submit an article for consideration, contact the Editor-in-Chief, Sarah E. Murray, at (203)222-4949 or smurray@broderorland.com.

As bar leaders, please distribute this information among your section and committee members to encourage involvement. For more information, including style guidelines and archive issues, visit ctbar.org/BJ.

