SideBar is an e-mail listserv tool that was created to provide its members a medium by which they could solicit the advice of their peers, benefit from their experience, participate in ongoing conversations, and receive information. In order to preserve a climate that continually encourages both a civil and fruitful dialogue, please be reminded that the CBA reserves the right to moderate, suspend, or terminate one's participation in this community for violations of the CBA's Community Rules & Etiquette and Privacy Guidelines. For further information, please access the Guidelines here.

Each section, section executive committee, committee, and task force has their own SideBar community. Members can post upcoming meeting notices, share documents and industry news, seek referrals, and much more. The listserv can function through e-mail or by logging into the online community. Members have control over their inbox and including the ability to set the frequency of messages they receive.

Note: All Section Executive Committee members are also in the Section SideBar group. You don't need to send the same message to the EC and Section SideBar as EC members will receive the message twice.

SideBar Online

SideBar's online community stores previously sent messages and shared documents and allows members to send messages to the group.

Members can access their SideBar online community by visiting sidebar.ctbar.org. The username and password is the same as the ctbar.org account login credentials. After logging in, members can find their groups under Communities > My Communities.

Once on their SideBar community page, members will see previous discussions, shared documents, and a list of all the members in their group.

To start a new discussion, members can click on the "Add" button in the "Latest Discussion Post Posts" box. After the message is sent, group members will receive an e-mail with the new discussion post.

Group members can respond to the sender individually or the entire group using the corresponding buttons in the discussion post found on the SideBar community or in the e-mail.*

SideBar E-mail

Members can send and respond to SideBar messages through their e-mail without visiting the SideBar online community.

A group's SideBar e-mail address is available on the group page at ctbar.org/groups. From your list of groups, click on the group you would like to contact. You must be logged in to access the Sidebar link and email address as it is only available to group members. On your group page, a logged in member who is part of the group will see two buttons - "SideBar" and "E-mail."- below "Join the Discussion" or "Join the Executive Committee Discussion." Click the e-mail button to launch your default e-mail provider. In order to send a SideBar message through e-mail, the member must use the e-mail address associated with their CBA account to send to the group SideBar.

Responding to SideBar Messages

Once a SideBar message is sent, all group members will receive an e-mail containing the message. Members can respond to the entire group by replying to the e-mail or using the "Reply to Group" button in the message. *In order to respond to the sender only, members must use the "Respond to Sender" button.

If a SideBar message is forwarded to someone not in the group, the attachments in the e-mail cannot be accessed.

For more information on using SideBar via e-mail visit: sidebar.ctbar.org/faq/help-e-mail.
