

Connecticut Bar Journal

General Information

2022-2023 Bar Year

The Connecticut Bar Journal features scholarly articles on numerous legal topics and is published quarterly under the direction of a board of editors. The first issue of the Connecticut Bar Journal was published in January 1927. Then-CBA President Carmody envisioned a periodical that would “act as a constant reminder of the existence and purposes of the Association” and offer an opportunity for members to exchange their ideas and opinions in a sophisticated and scholarly manner.

To discuss an article idea or to submit an article for consideration, contact the editor-in-chief, James H. Lee, at (203)259-4665 or jlee06430@sbcglobal.net.

As bar leaders, please distribute this information among your section and committee members to encourage involvement. For more information, including style guidelines and archive issues, visit ctbar.org/CBJ.